

WORLD'S ORIGINAL MARMALADE AWARDS 2019 PROGRAMME

Saturday 16th March – THE FESTIVAL

- 10.00 am The Festival Opens!
From 10am until 4pm the Marmalade Festival will be open in the courtyard, with a range of stalls selling delicious food and high-quality products. All of our stalls, from cheese to gin to painting, will be providing a marmalade twist! There will also be music, a human fruit machine, storytelling, marmalade tasting and more. Entry to the catering marquee, stalls and tasting barn, with hundreds of marmalades available to try and buy, will be FREE.
- 10.00 am Awards Ceremony at Dalemain
Visit the front steps of Dalemain Mansion at 10am to find out what marmalade is officially the best in the world in 2019! The 2019 Double Gold 'Best in will be announced and the Worshipful Company of Fruiterers will award the winner with their coveted gilt cup. Stainton School will sing their famous 'Marmalade Song', which they performed at the Japanese Embassy in January.
- 10.30 am Entry to the Mansion, with displays of Marmalade
Dalemain Mansion has always been the heart of the Awards, and we are once again proud to be displaying thousands of homemade marmalades in the state rooms. Entry to the Mansion is £5, which also includes entry to the Historic Gardens!
- 10.45 am Question Time
Join our expert panel for answers to all of your marmalade questions. From cooking tips to flavour suggestions, we've got you covered. Question Time will take place in the Old Hall - entry by the back door, all proceeds to Hospice at Home. Tickets £6
- 10.45 am Cookery Demonstration
Join Belinda Hill for a marmalade inspired cookery demonstration like no other! Learn how to make marmalade & toast ice cream, sweet treats and more! The demo will take place in the Brewhouse, all proceeds to Hospice at Home. Tickets £6
- 12.00 pm Chocolate and Marmalade Cookery Demonstration
Will Torrent is an expert chocolatier, Waitrose consultant and, most importantly, Artisan Awards marmalade Judge! Join him for a Chocolate and Marmalade cookery demonstration that will leave your taste buds tingling. The cookery demonstration will take place in the Old Hall, all proceeds to Hospice at Home. Tickets £6
- 12.00 pm Tutored Marmalade Tasting
Dan Leopard is a head judge and patron of the Marmalade Awards, as well as an internationally renowned award-winning food writer and chef. Dan will be your guide on how to elevate your preserve making in our lighthearted 'World's Worst Marmalade' tastings. The Marmalade Tasting will take place in the Brewhouse kitchen, all proceeds to Hospice at Home. Tickets £6
- 01.15 pm Question Time
Our expert marmalade panel are back with the answers to all of your marmalade questions! No question is too small or too sticky! Come and join us to find out exactly how to get the edge in next year's competition. Question Time will take place in Old Hall, entry by back door, all proceeds to Hospice at Home. Tickets £6

- 01.15 pm Cookery Demonstration
Belinda Hill is back with more delicious recipes from her Award-winning cookery book, which raises funds for Hospice at Home. Learn how to make all manner of marmalade inspired treats. The demonstration will take place in the Brew House, all proceeds to Hospice at Home. Tickets £6
- 02.30 pm Wine tasting with Pippa Sedwick
Try a range of delicious wines, and learn what foods to pair them with – a deliciously indulgent lecture that will satisfy your mind as well as your taste buds! The Wine Tasting will take place in the Brew house. All proceeds to Hospice at Home. Tickets £6
- 02.30pm Tutored Marmalade Tasting
Head judge Dan Lepard returns to take you through how to make – and not make – everyone’s favourite preserve, with his lighthearted ‘World’s Worst Marmalade’ tastings. The tutored marmalade tasting will take place in the Old Hall, all proceeds to Hospice at Hall. Tickets £6
- 04.00 pm Festival Finishes

Sunday 17th March – Mansion Open

- 09.30 am Marmalade Festival Service
The Marmalade Festival service will be held at St. Andrew’s Church, Dacre, and all are welcome! Awards patron The Rev George Bush, Rector of St Mary le Bow will take the service and there will be readings from Will Torrent and Cheryl Roux, as well as marmalade cake and coffee.
- 10.00 am Dalemain Mansion open to the public
Visit Dalemain to see thousands of homemade marmalades, complete with their feedback cards, on display in the state rooms of the house. Marmalades are entered from all over the world and can be seen on display for one weekend only.
- 11.30 am Cookery Demonstration
Join Belinda Hill for a marmalade inspired cookery demonstration that will have your tastebuds tingling! Learn how to make marmalade & toast ice cream, sweet treats and more. The demo will take place in the Old Hall, with all proceeds to Hospice at Home. Tickets £6
- 11.30 am Judging of the Marmalashes
The Ashes is a fiercely fought cricket contest between England and Australia. The “Marmalashes” is as fiercely fought but is more orange on spoon than bat on ball! This will be the ninth year an Australian eleven has been sent across the globe to take on an English eleven – watch the public judging and see who will be victorious!
- 12.00 pm Question Time
Join our expert panel and learn everything there is to know about marmalade! They will have answers to all of your marmalade questions, as well as suggestions and tips you never would have thought to ask! Question Time will take place in the Old Hall, with all proceeds to Hospice at Home. Tickets £6
- 04.00 pm House Closes